35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, requires the specification to be written in "full, clear, concise, and exact terms." The specification is replete with terms which are not clear, concise and exact. The specification should be revised carefully in order to comply with 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph. There are grammatical errors on every page of the specification needing correction.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 3 contradicts claim 1 from which it depends because claim 1 states 40% or more whereas claim 3 states less than 40% and claim 3 apparently disregards Te. The intended structure is vague and indefinite. Claim 6 is vague and indefinite as the "area" structure is vague and indefinite of exact structure. Claim 7 is vague and indefinite as "transmits...more" is vague and indefinite of exact structure and function. What is a "recording or reproducing light by 30% or more".

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Horie '857 in view of applicant's prior art admissions or Parkinson '413.

It is well known in the art to practice phase change chalcogenide material with electrical or photonic means to make the phase change. See Parkinson paragraph [0030] where phase change materials are programmed through light or current, et al. Horie shows in paragraphs [0011-0019] a chalcogenide formula including Zn for the advantages of high phase change speed. For the same advantages of high speed it would have been obvious to have practiced similar chalcogenide material as Horie in an electrically programmed device as Parkinson. Applicant's claims are obvious structure. Claim 5 is functional language which does not structurally distinguish over the applied art which can function in the same manner. Claim 9 is rejected as '413 teaches an insulating film of TiN or other barrier material 370. Other claims are rejected as the chalcogenide formula of Horie meets the claim recitations.
